Why do I need a backup solution for my customers' Office 365 mailboxes?

There's a common misconception that Microsoft fully backs up Office 365 data as part of the subscription, but this is not the case.

- Microsoft doesn't provide native options to back up Office 365 mailboxes - Microsoft is responsible for providing the necessary infrastructure and ensuring Office 365 works, but it's the customer's responsibility to protect its Office 365 data.
- Microsoft cannot help with unexpected data loss or damage - Having a solid backup solution in place ensures that even if mailbox items disappear from the network or are rendered useless, the customer has access to a backed-up copy, eliminating problems or repercussions that could arise from the missing data.
- Problems with accessing and searching email data - Without a single backup location for a company's mailboxes, this data cannot be protected and stored centrally for easy access, searching and recovery.

That's why you need to back up Office 365 mailboxes.
